The Airport Master Plan

What is it, why is it being done?

What is an Airport Master Plan?

Quite simply, an Airport Master Plan is just what the name implies. The plan examines current infrastructure and operations at an airport and utilizes a forecast to project how current demands on the facility will change over the next 20 years. Elements of the plan include inventory, forecasts, facility requirements, alternatives, capital improvement planning, and an Airport Layout Plan set (ALP).

Why is it being conducted?

Most commonly used general aviation and commercial airport sponsors in the US are eligible to receive Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Airport Improvement Program (AIP) grant funding. The Airport Master Plan is required by the FAA, as a condition of receiving FAA AIP funding, to ensure that the local sponsor has the resources in place to plan for future needs and comply with FAA design standards. The plan ultimately assists local, state and federal representatives with the critical information necessary to assist with decisions regarding development and funding to meet community needs and industry demands. The completed plan is also used as a resource by numerous public and private entities. The development of an Airport Master Plan follows strict adherence to FAA guidelines, and are usually required to be conducted about every 10 years, depending on airport needs and FAA requirements.

How much does it cost and who pays for it?

The FAA allows local airport sponsors to apply for cost share AIP grants to help fund both development and planning projects, with the FAA usually contributing 90% of the funding. Most of the FAA AIP funding used for AIP grants is generated through user fees, generally in the form of airline ticket taxes. The required 10% local match is often supplemented by state or other non-FAA funding sources. The FAA Glasgow Airport Master Plan grant was awarded in fiscal year 2021, with a total project cost of approximately $364,000, with the FAA contributing 100% of the funding. DOWL was competitively selected to complete the planning study.

What will the final product look like?

The completed Glasgow Airport Master Plan will contain a detailed narrative report and an Airport Layout Plan (ALP), that will consist of approximately 11 separate sheets, graphically detailing infrastructure, airspace, obstructions, and property information. The final product will also be available in an electronic format and published on a project website.

Typical Elements of the Airport Master Plan

ALP Update Goals:

- Provide a graphic representation of existing airport features, future airport development and anticipated land use.
- Establish a realistic schedule for implementation of the proposed development.
- Identify a realistic financial plan to support the development.
- Validate the plan technically and procedurally through investigation of concepts and alternatives on technical, economic and environmental grounds.
- Prepare a plan to the public that adequately addresses all relevant issues and satisfies local, state and federal regulations.
- Establish a framework for a continuous planning process.

What are the steps?

Pre-planning – The pre-planning process usually includes an Initial Needs Determination, Request for Proposal and Consultant Selection, Development of Study Design, Negotiation of Consultant Contract, and Application for Study Funding.

Public Involvement – Once the project starts, a public involvement program is begun to identify and document the key issues for various stakeholders and solicit input.

Environmental Considerations – A clear understanding of the environmental requirements needed to move forward with proposed projects in the recommendations.

Existing Conditions – An inventory of all pertinent airport data.

Aviation Forecasts – Forecasts of aeronautical demand for short-, medium-, and long-term time frames.

Facility Requirements – Assess the ability of the existing airport infrastructure, both airside and landside, to support the forecast demand. Identify the demand levels that will trigger the need for facility additions or improvements, and estimate the extent of new facilities that may be required to meet that demand.

Alternatives Development and Evaluation – Identify options to meet projected facility requirements and alternative configurations. Assess the expected performance of each alternative against a wide range of evaluation criteria, including its operational, environmental, and financial impacts. A recommended development alternative will emerge from this process and will be further refined in subsequent tasks. This will also aid in developing the purpose and need for subsequent environmental documents.

Airport Layout Plans – One of the key products of an ALP Update is a set of drawings that provides a graphic representation of the long-term development plan for an airport.

Facilities Implementation Plan – Provides a summary description of the recommended improvements and associated costs. The schedule of improvements depends, in large part, on the levels of demand that trigger the need for expansion of existing facilities.

Financial Feasibility Analysis – Identifies a financial plan for the airport, describes how the sponsor will finance the projects recommended in the master plan, and demonstrate the financial feasibility of the program.

Runway Design Code (RDC).

The RDC is a three-component code relating AAC, ADG, and approach visibility minimums establishing the design characteristics for a particular runway. The critical aircraft with regular use defines the AAC and ADG components of the RDC, whereas the runway's lowest visibility published on an instrument approach chart determines the visibility component. The RDC convention is as follows:

Valley County, Montana

Dear Mr. Brown,

Valley County, in partnership with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), has initiated an Airport Master Plan for the Glasgow Airport. DOWL has been retained to prepare the Master Plan and ensure compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA).

This study will analyze current demand, forecast future needs, and develop a plan to support airport sustainability and development of the facility over the next 20 years. DOWL will assist Glasgow Airport representatives in establishing specific goals, objectives and parameters for specified services to accommodate this plan. It is not anticipated at this time that current and future aviation demands forecasted would necessitate any significant expansion of the facility.

On behalf of Glasgow Airport, DOWL requests your office's input and comments on any potential or existing historic or archaeological sites that should be considered while preparing the Master Plan. Your department's written response to this request will be included in the environmental documentation for this project. If necessary, a response on these matters may result in further inter-agency coordination to avoid or minimize potential project impacts.

Please forward any comments at your earliest convenience, and do not hesitate to contact me at 406-442-0370, or jgreil@dowl.com if you have any questions regarding this request. Thank you for your assistance.

Good morning Mr. Greil,

I received your letter regarding the Glasgow Airport Master Plan. Do you have a map showing the area that you would like us to look at? The Glasgow Airport is spread across approximately 6 Sections based on my preliminary view. Can you confirm that you would like us to search these sections to see if there are any historic/archaeological sites within the area?

T28N R39E Section 1
T29N R39E Sections 35, 36
T28N R40E Sections 5, 6, 7

Once you have confirmed these are the sections I will begin our search of the area and let you know if we have any potential concerns as it relates to historic or archaeological sites.

RE: Request for EPA Comments on the Glasgow Airport Master Plan

Dear Project Manager Greil:

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region 8 has reviewed the Glasgow International Airport Master Plan (Master Plan) project overview. In accordance with our responsibilities under Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), we are providing scoping comments. These comments convey important questions or concerns that the EPA recommends addressing during the NEPA process. The EPA also intends to carry out our independent review responsibilities for the resulting NEPA document under Clean Air Act (CAA) Section 309.

The Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) Order 1050.1F Environmental Impacts: Policies and Procedures<sup>1</sup> (and accompanying Desk Reference<sup>2</sup>) provides guidance to ensure agency compliance with NEPA, the requirements set forth in the Council on Environmental Quality's Regulations for Implementing the Procedural Provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act (CEQ Regulations), and Department of Transportation Order 5610.1C, Procedures for Considering Environmental Impacts. In addition, FAA Order 5050.4B<sup>3</sup> supplements FAA Order 1050.1F and follows the CEQ Regulations by providing instructions for proposed Federal actions to support airport development projects. We recommend the Master Plan follow these guidance documents to develop site-specific NEPA analyses which will provide opportunities for public involvement and comment on individual construction projects.

As part of their continuing commitment to serve and improve the aviation needs of the area, Valley County and the City of Glasgow are conducting an airport master plan for Glasgow Airport/Wokal Field (GGW). This master plan is a collaborative effort between GGW (the airport sponsor), the Montana

Department of Transportation (MDT), and the FAA. The plan is 100% funded by a grant from the FAA's Airport Improvement Program. DOWL Engineering was selected to assist the airport with the development of this master plan that will include a narrative report along with an Airport Layout Plan. The master plan encompasses 5, 10, and 20-year terms and will ultimately provide local, state, and federal officials with important facility records and useful tools for future maintenance and development projects.

Based on the preliminary information available, our initial areas of interest for the Glasgow Airport Master Plan include: (1) greenhouse gases and climate change; (2) air quality; (3) environmental justice/Tribal consultation; (4) aquatic resources; and (5) threatened and endangered species. Due to the long-term nature of the master plan and potential for construction and other projects to be completed at various times, we recommend considering chapter 3-2 of FAA Order 1050.1F titled Programmatic National Environmental Policy Act Documents and Tiering. A programmatic EIS or EA may be prepared to cover (1) a broad group of related actions; or (2) a program, policy, plan, system, or national level proposal that may later lead to individual actions, requiring subsequent, tiered NEPA analysis.

We appreciate the opportunity to provide recommendations for this NEPA planning document. These comments are intended to facilitate the decision-making process. If we may provide further explanation of our comments, please contact me at (303) 312-6155, or Jason Morris of my staff at (303) 312-7270 or morris.jason@epa.gov.

Enclosure: EPA Comments for Glasgow Airport (GGW) Master Plan

Enclosure – EPA Comments for Glasgow Airport (GGW) Master Plan

Greenhouse Gases and Climate Change

The EPA recommends assessing, disclosing, and mitigating the climate pollution and related effects and risks resulting from the proposed action and alternatives, per Executive Order 14008, Tackling the Climate Crisis at Home and Abroad.<sup>4</sup> We recommend using the CEQ's National Environmental Policy Act Guidance on Consideration of Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Climate Change.<sup>5</sup> The CEQ issued this interim guidance to assist federal agencies in assessing and disclosing climate impacts during environmental reviews. The CEQ has also recently updated its web list of greenhouse gas (GHG) tools and resources,<sup>6</sup> including the Aviation Environmental Design Tool<sup>7</sup> which can quantify the noise, fuel burn, and emissions resulting from all aspects of aircraft operations.

We recommend including an estimate of the direct, indirect, and cumulative GHG emissions from the construction phase(s) of the project, an analysis of alternatives, and identification of practicable mitigation to reduce GHG emissions. We recommend estimating GHG emissions in CO<sub>2</sub>-equivalent terms and translating the emissions into equivalencies that are more easily understood by the public.<sup>8</sup> Estimate the project's climate impacts by utilizing the current interim values for the social cost of GHG emissions. We recommend utilizing a new set of SC-GHG estimates as outlined in EPA's November 2023 Report on the Social Cost of Greenhouse Gases: Estimates Incorporating Recent Scientific Advances.<sup>9</sup> The EPA also recommends that SC-GHG calculations give specific information regarding the social cost estimate related to individual gases (i.e., use SC-CO<sub>2</sub> to monetize CO<sub>2</sub> emissions changes, and use SC-CH<sub>4</sub> to monetize CH<sub>4</sub> emissions changes).

We further recommend identifying measures to reduce GHG emissions associated with the project, including alternatives and/or requirements to mitigate or offset emissions. We recommend discussing how reasonably foreseeable GHG emissions are, or are not, consistent with state or federal policies or goals. For example, provide a discussion on GHG reduction targets set at the federal, state, or local level as required in 40 C.F.R. § 1506.2(d), including the U.S. 2030 Paris GHG reduction target<sup>10</sup> and the 2050 net-zero pathway.<sup>11</sup> We recommend avoiding percentage comparisons between project-level and state, national, or global emissions, which inappropriately minimizes the significance of GHG emissions.

Air Quality

We recommend characterizing the existing air quality baseline for criteria pollutants and Air Quality Related Values (AQRV), including visibility and resources sensitive to deposition. For criteria pollutants we recommend coordinating with the Montana Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) to establish representative design values (background pollutant concentrations) based on the most recent

Data are available from EPA at our design values webpage.<sup>12</sup> Monitoring locations and data can also be accessed by the public through EPA's outdoor air monitor webpage,<sup>13</sup> as well as through the EPA's Air Quality System (AQS) for AQS users.<sup>14</sup>

Under the Clean Air Act (CAA), the EPA developed the National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) for six common air pollutants. These criteria air pollutants are carbon monoxide, nitrogen oxides, ozone, particulate matter, sulfur dioxide, and lead. Air quality regulations in the United States are based on concerns that high concentrations of air pollutants can harm human health, especially for children, the elderly, and people with compromised health conditions; as well as adversely affect public welfare by damage to crops, vegetation, buildings, and other property. In addition to federal requirements, applicable state and local requirements should be identified as early as possible during the NEPA scoping process and described in the NEPA documentation. For additional information on the EPA's Air Permit Programs, see the EPA's Air Quality Planning and Standards website.<sup>15</sup>

The study area for air quality should be defined as the entire geographic area that could be either directly or indirectly affected by the proposed project. For example, air quality impacts from construction may be limited to a project site and adjacent areas. However, air quality impacts from operations (e.g., aircraft flight) would extend beyond a project site and adjacent areas as well as vertically up to the mixing height. Therefore, the study area for the project's air quality analysis could encompass many square miles and/or multiple air basins. The FAA's Air Quality Handbook<sup>16</sup> provides information on how to conduct an air quality analysis.

An emissions inventory provides an initial indication of the magnitude of the potential air quality impacts of an action and provides a basis for any further analysis. It may be appropriate to conduct additional analysis based on the level of potential emissions, existing emissions, proximity to sensitive areas, and/or input from other state and federal agencies. Based on the equipment and activities and the schedule for implementation of the plan, we recommend calculating emissions of criteria pollutants, and Hazardous Air Pollutants (HAPs) for existing operations and each reasonable alternative. An inventory should include both direct and indirect emissions that are reasonably foreseeable, including both construction and operational emissions. Emission inventories should be generated for all project alternatives using a consistent approach (such as use of EPA emission factors, the latest version of MOVES<sup>17</sup> for mobile sources, and/or an FAA-approved model) to allow a comparison of impacts between alternatives. We recommend that the details of emission calculations be included in the NEPA document as an appendix in sufficient detail to replicate the estimates.

We recommend the NEPA document consider methods that could be employed to mitigate any negative air quality impacts of the Master Plan, including air quality impacts from construction related activities (e.g., fugitive dust mitigation planning and heavy-duty diesel emission reduction strategies). Further, we recommend the proposed mitigation measures include details on how, when, and where the mitigation will be implemented, and how effective the measures are expected to be.

Environmental Justice/Tribal Consultation

Executive Order 13985, Advancing Racial Equity and Support for Underserved Communities Through the Federal Government,<sup>18</sup> and Executive Order 14096, Revitalizing Our Nation's Commitment to Environmental Justice for All,<sup>19</sup> sets expectations for a whole-of-government approach informed by scientific research, high-quality data, and meaningful federal engagement with communities to advance equity for all. Consistent with those executive orders and CEQ's Environmental Justice Guidance Under NEPA,<sup>20</sup> the EPA recommends that the project analysis include the following:

- Identify people of color, low-income, and indigenous communities within the geographic scope of the impact area that are living with EJ concerns, including the sources of data and a description of the methodology and criteria utilized.
- Engage with such communities on decision making in a meaningful way, and with Tribal Historic Preservation Officers if cultural or historical artifacts may be found in the project area. See also paragraph 2-4.4 of FAA Order 1050.1F for guidance regarding Tribal consultation.
- Assess EJ and other socioeconomic concerns for people of color, low-income and indigenous communities, including:
  - An assessment of historic, ongoing, and cumulative baseline environmental impacts, including health impacts from cumulative pollution loads, and identification of any already existing disproportionate impacts in overburdened communities.
  - A discussion of potential direct, indirect, and cumulative impacts of the proposed project on the health of these communities, and identification of any potential disproportionate and adverse impacts. Assess health risks from project activities such as new construction and air emissions.
  - An evaluation of socioeconomic impacts, including the potential for additional burden on local communities' ability to provide necessary public services and amenities.
- Establish mitigation measures or alternatives to avoid or reduce any adverse impacts and involve the affected communities in developing those measures.

We encourage the use of EJScreen<sup>21</sup> in analysis efforts. EPA's nationally consistent EJ screening and mapping tool can highlight locations that may be candidates for further analysis. The tool identifies potential community vulnerabilities by calculating EJ indexes in basic geographic units of census block groups and displaying information on pollution sources, health disparities, critical service gaps, and climate change data in color-coded maps and standard data reports. EJScreen can also help focus outreach efforts by identifying potential language barriers, meeting locations, Tribal lands and indigenous areas, and lack of broadband access. For a NEPA review, a project is considered an area of potential EJ concern when the area shows one or more of the twelve EJ Indexes at or above the 80th percentile in the nation and/or state. However, scores under the 80th percentile should not be interpreted to indicate there are definitively no EJ concerns present.

While EJScreen provides access to high-resolution environmental and demographic data, it does not provide information on every potential community vulnerability that may be present. The tool's standard data report should not be considered a substitute for conducting a full EJ analysis, and efforts to use the tool should be supplemented with local knowledge when reasonably available. Also, in recognition of the inherent uncertainties with screening level data and to address instances when the presence of EJ populations may be diluted (e.g., in large project areas or in rural locations), EPA recommends assessing each block group in the project area individually and adding a one-mile buffer around the project area. Please reference the EJScreen Technical Documentation for a discussion of these and other issues.<sup>22</sup>

Aquatic Resources

Most construction projects have the potential to adversely impact aquatic resources, including surface waters, wetlands, streams, springs, riparian areas, and their supporting hydrology. We recommend the NEPA document include the following information on existing water resources:

- Maps and discussion of surface water resources and uses in and downstream of the development area, including any streams, wetlands, springs, source water protection areas, and surface water intakes.
  - Evaluation of wetlands should include those that are regulated under Section 404 of the Clean Water Act (CWA) and non-jurisdictional wetlands, and, where project impacts are likely, acreages and channel lengths, habitat types, values, and functions of these waters. We also recommend considering the applicability of Executive Order 11990 – Protection of Wetlands (May 24, 1977).
- Maps and discussion of groundwater resources and uses in and within one mile of the project area, including:
  - Water supply wells and source water protection areas;
  - The major aquifers in the project area;
  - The location and extent of the groundwater recharge areas; and
  - The location of shallow and sensitive aquifers that are susceptible to contamination from surface activities.
- Presentation of available baseline data on the condition and quality of these water resources, and where appropriate and possible, reasons why these resources have been impacted.

The EPA recommends discussing the following resource impacts, including disclosure of which waters may be impacted, the specific pollutants likely to impact those waters, and the nature of potential impacts from construction and operation:

- Surface Water Quality and Sedimentation: Potential impacts to water quality from runoff associated with surface disturbance. Runoff could introduce sediments as well as salts, selenium, and other pollutants into surface waters.
- Drinking Water: Potential impacts to drinking water from the project, including source water protection areas and other municipal or private water supplies.
- Groundwater: Potential impacts to groundwater, including groundwater recharge areas and shallow and sensitive aquifers.

Surface water, groundwater, floodplains, and wetlands do not function as separate and isolated components of the watershed, but rather as a single, integrated natural system. Disruption of any one part of this system can have consequences to the functioning of the entire system. The NEPA analysis should include potential disruption of the system as well as potential impacts to the quality of the water resources. Refer to the FAA Order 1050.1F Desk Reference,<sup>23</sup> Chapter 14, for detailed guidance on aquatic resources.

Threatened and Endangered Species

We recommend working closely with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) and the Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks (FWP) to determine potential impacts of the plan on plant and wildlife species, especially species classified as rare, threatened, or endangered on either state or federal lists. We also recommend the NEPA documents:

- Identify and quantify which species and/or critical habitat might be directly, indirectly, or cumulatively affected by each alternative and mitigate impacts to these species. Emphasis should be placed on the protection and recovery of species due to their status or potential status under the Endangered Species Act.
- Discuss the Master Plan's consistency with existing laws and regulations, including the Migratory Bird Treaty Act.
- Summarize, or include as an appendix in the NEPA documents, any biological assessment prepared after informal consultation or biological opinion prepared by USFWS after formal consultation. If applicable, demonstrate that the preferred alternative is consistent with the biological assessment or opinion.
- Discuss mitigation measures to minimize impacts to special status species, describe the effectiveness of such measures to protect wildlife, and indicate how they would be implemented and enforced.

Subject: Glasgow Airport Master Plan
Valley County, Montana

Dear Kelly Compton,

Valley County, in partnership with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), has initiated an Airport Master Plan for the Glasgow Airport. DOWL has been retained to prepare the Master Plan and ensure compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA).

This study will analyze current demand, forecast future needs, and develop a plan to support airport sustainability and development of the facility over the next 20 years. DOWL will assist Glasgow Airport representatives in establishing specific goals, objectives and parameters for specified services to accommodate this plan. It is not anticipated at this time that current and future aviation demands forecasted would necessitate any significant expansion of the facility.

On behalf of the Glasgow Airport, DOWL requests your agency's input and comments on any any potential issues with Species of Concern, or other concerns within the purview of your agency that should be considered while preparing the Master Plan. Your department's written response to this request will be included in the environmental documentation for this project. If necessary, a response on these matters may result in further inter-agency coordination to avoid or minimize potential project impacts.

Please forward any comments at your earliest convenience, and do not hesitate to contact me at 406-442-0370, or jgreil@dowl.com if you have any questions regarding this request. Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

DOWL

RE: Glasgow Airport Master Plan

Dear Mr. Greil,

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks appreciates the opportunity to comment on this Airport Master Plan for the Glasgow Airport. We would like to offer the following comments.

We are not positioned to recommend mitigating actions or avoidance considering we don't know what kind of activities that are being planned however, we have prepared a report derived from the MT Natural Heritage Program that includes predicted presence and observations of Species of Concern. Please follow up with us as needed.

Thank you again for the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Drew Henry,

The Montana Natural Heritage Program is part of the Montana State Library's Natural Resource Information System. Since 1985, it has served as a neutral and non-regulatory provider of easily accessible information on Montana's species and biological communities to inform all stakeholders in environmental review, permitting, and planning processes. The program is part of the NatureServe network that is composed of over 60 member programs across North America that work to provide current and comprehensive distribution and status information on species and biological communities.

Introduction to Environmental Summary Report

Environmental Summary Reports from the Montana Natural Heritage Program (MTNHP) provide information on species and biological communities to inform all stakeholders in environmental review, permitting, and planning processes. For information on environmental permits in Montana, please see permitting overviews by the Montana Department of Environmental Quality, the Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation, the Index of Environmental Permits for Montana and our Suggested Contacts for Natural Resource Management Agencies. The report for your area of interest consists of introductory and related materials in this PDF and an Excel workbook with worksheets summarizing information managed in the MTNHP databases for: (1) species occurrences; (2) other observed species without species occurrences; (3) other species potentially present based on their range, presence of associated habitats, or predictive distribution model output if available; (4) structured surveys that follow a protocol capable of detecting one or more species; (5) land cover mapped as ecological systems; (6) wetland and riparian mapping; (7) land management categories; and (8) biological reports associated with plant and animal observations. If your area of interest corresponds to a statewide polygon layer (e.g., watersheds, counties, or public land survey sections) information summaries in your report will exactly match those boundaries. However, if your report is for a custom area, users should be aware that summaries do not correspond to the exact boundaries of the polygon they have specified, but instead are a summary across a layer of hexagons intersected by the polygon they specified as shown on the report cover. Summarizing by these hexagons which are one square mile in area and approximately one kilometer in length on each side allows for consistent and rapid delivery of summaries based on a uniform grid that has been used for planning efforts across North America.

In presenting this information, MTNHP is working towards assisting the user with rapidly assessing the known or potential species and biological communities, land management categories, and biological reports associated with the report area. Users are reminded that this information is likely incomplete and may be inaccurate as surveys to document species are lacking in many areas of the state, species' range polygons often include regions of unsuitable habitat, methods of predicting the presence of species or communities are constantly improving, and information is constantly being added and updated in our databases. Field verification by professional biologists of the absence or presence of species and biological communities in a report area will always be an important obligation of users of our data. Users are encouraged to only use this environmental summary report as a starting point for more in depth analyses and are encouraged to contact state, federal, and tribal resource management agencies for additional data or management guidelines relevant to your efforts. Please see the Appendix for introductory materials to each section of the report, additional information resources, and a list of relevant agency contacts.

Structured Surveys

Summarized by: Glasgow Airport (Custom Area of Interest)

The Montana Natural Heritage Program (MTNHP) records information on the locations where more than 80 different types of well-defined repeatable survey protocols capable of detecting an animal species or suite of animal species have been conducted by state, federal, tribal, university, or private consulting biologists. Examples of structured survey protocols tracked by MTNHP include: visual encounter and dip net surveys for pond breeding amphibians, point counts for birds, call playback surveys for selected bird species, visual surveys of migrating raptors, kick net stream reach surveys for macroinvertebrates, visual encounter cover object surveys for terrestrial mollusks, bat acoustic or mist net surveys, pitfall and/or snap trap surveys for small terrestrial mammals, track or camera trap surveys for large mammals, and trap surveys for turtles. Whenever possible, photographs of survey locations are stored in MTNHP databases.

MTNHP does not typically manage information on structured surveys for plants; surveys for invasive species may be a future exception.

Within the report area you have requested, structured surveys are summarized by the number of each type of structured survey protocol that has been conducted, the number of species detections/observations resulting from these surveys, and the most recent year a survey has been conducted.

Land Cover

Summarized by: Glasgow Airport (Custom Area of Interest)

Human Land Use Agriculture

Cultivated Crops

53% (2,388 Acres)

These areas used for the production of crops, such as corn, soybeans, small grains, sunflowers, vegetables, and cotton, typically on an annual cycle. Agricultural plant cover is variable depending on season and type of farming. Other areas include more stable land cover of orchards and vineyards.

Grassland Systems

Lowland/Prairie Grassland

Great Plains Mixedgrass Prairie

23% (1,036 Acres)

The system covers much of the eastern two-thirds of Montana, occurring continuously for hundreds of square kilometers, interrupted only by wetland/riparian areas or sand prairies. Soils are primarily fine and medium-textured. The growing season averages 115 days, ranging from 100 days on the Canadian border to 130 days on the Wyoming border. Climate is typical of mid-continental regions with long severe winters and hot summers. Grasses typically comprise the greatest canopy cover, and western wheatgrass (Pascopyrum smithii) is usually dominant. Other species include thickspike wheatgrass (Elymus lanceolatus), green needlegrass (Nassella viridula), blue grama (Bouteloua gracilis), and needle and thread (Hesperostipa comata). Near the Canadian border in north-central Montana, this system grades into rough fescue (Festuca campestris) and Idaho fescue (Festuca idahoensis) grasslands. Remnants of shortbristle needle and thread (Hesperostipa curtiseta) dominated vegetation are found in northernmost Montana and North Dakota, and are associated with productive sites, now mostly converted to farmland. Forb diversity is typically high. In areas of southeastern and central Montana where sagebrush steppe borders the mixed grass prairie, common plant associations include Wyoming big sagebrush-western wheatgrass (Artemisia tridentata ssp. wyomingensis/Pascopyrum smithii). Fire and grazing are the primary drivers of this system. Drought can also impact it, in general favoring the shortgrass component at the expense of the mid-height grasses. With intensive grazing, cool season exotics such as Kentucky bluegrass (Poa pratensis), smooth brome (Bromus inermis), and Japanese brome (Bromus japonicus) increase in dominance; both of these rhizomatous species have been shown to markedly decrease species diversity. Previously cultivated acres that have been re-vegetated with non-native plants have been transformed into associations such as Kentucky bluegrass (Poa pratensis)/western wheatgrass (Pascopyrum smithii) or into pure crested wheatgrass (Agropyron cristatum) stands.

Recently Disturbed or Modified Introduced Vegetation

Introduced Upland Vegetation - Annual and Biennial Forbland

Land cover is significantly altered/disturbed by introduced annual and biennial forbs. Natural vegetation types are no longer recognizable. Typical species that dominate these areas are knapweed, oxeye daisy, Canada thistle, leafy spurge, pepperweed, and yellow sweetclover.

Human Land Use Developed

Developed, Open Space

Vegetation (primarily grasses) planted in developed settings for recreation, erosion control, or aesthetic purposes. Impervious surfaces account for less than 20% of total cover. This category often includes highway and railway rights of way and graveled rural roads.

Introduction to Montana Natural Heritage Program

PO Box 201800 • 1201 11th Avenue • Helena, MT 59620-1800 • fax 406.444.0266 • phone 406.444.3989 • mtnhp.org

INTRODUCTION

The Montana Natural Heritage Program (MTNHP) is Montana's source for reliable and objective information on Montana's native species and habitats, emphasizing those of conservation concern. MTNHP was created by the Montana legislature in 1983 as part of the Natural Resource Information System (NRIS) at the Montana State Library (MSL). MTNHP is "a program of information acquisition, storage, and retrieval for data relating to the flora, fauna, and biological community types of Montana" (MCA 90-15-102). MTNHP's activities are guided by statute as well as through ongoing interaction with, and feedback from, principal data source agencies such as Montana Fish, Wildlife, and Parks, the Montana Department of Environmental Quality, the Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation, the Montana University System, the US Forest Service, and the US Bureau of Land Management. Since the first staff was hired in 1985, the Program has logged a long record of success, and developed into a highly respected, service-oriented program. MTNHP is widely recognized as one of the most advanced and effective of over 60 natural heritage programs that are distributed across North America.

VISION

Our vision is that public agencies, the private sector, the education sector, and the general public will trust and rely upon MTNHP as the source for information and expertise on Montana's species and habitats, especially those of conservation concern. We strive to provide easy access to our information to allow users to save time and money, speed environmental reviews, and make informed decisions.

CORE VALUES

- We endeavor to be a single statewide source of accurate and up-to-date information on Montana's plants, animals, and aquatic and terrestrial biological communities.
- We actively listen to our data users and work responsively to meet their information and training needs.
- We strive to provide neutral, trusted, timely, and equitable service to all of our information users.
- We make every effort to be transparent to our data users in setting work priorities and providing data products.

CONFIDENTIALITY

All information requests made to the Montana Natural Heritage Program are considered library records and are protected from disclosure by the Montana Library Records Confidentiality Act (MCA 22-1-11).

INFORMATION MANAGED

Information managed at the Montana Natural Heritage Program is botanical, zoological, and ecological information that describes the distribution (e.g., observations, structured surveys, range polygons, predicted habitat suitability models), conservation status (e.g., global and state conservation status ranks, including threats), and other supporting information (e.g., accounts and references) on the biology and ecology of species and biological communities.

Data Use Terms and Conditions

- Montana Natural Heritage Program (MTNHP) products and services are based on biological data and the objective interpretation of those data by professional scientists. MTNHP does not advocate any particular philosophy of natural resource protection, management, development, or public policy.
- MTNHP has no natural resource management or regulatory authority. Products, statements, and services from MTNHP are intended to inform parties as to the state of scientific knowledge about certain natural resources, and to further develop that knowledge. The information is not intended as natural resource management guidelines or prescriptions or a determination of environmental impacts. MTNHP recommends consultation with appropriate state, federal, and tribal resource management agencies and authorities in the area where your project is located.
- Information on the status and spatial distribution of biological resources produced by MTNHP are intended to inform parties of the state-wide status, known occurrence, or the likelihood of the presence of those resources. These products are not intended to substitute for field-collected data, nor are they intended to be the sole basis for natural resource management decisions.
- MTNHP does not portray its data as exhaustive or comprehensive inventories of rare species or biological communities. Field verification of the absence or presence of sensitive species and biological communities will always be an important obligation of users of our data.
- MTNHP responds equally to all requests for products and services, regardless of the purpose or identity of the requester.
- Because MTNHP constantly updates and revises its databases with new data and information, products will become outdated over time. Interested parties are encouraged to obtain the most current information possible from MTNHP, rather than using older products. We add, review, update, and delete records on a daily basis. Consequently, we strongly advise that you update your MTNHP data sets at a minimum of every four months for most applications of our information.
- MTNHP data require a certain degree of biological expertise for proper analysis, interpretation, and application. Our staff is available to advise you on questions regarding the interpretation or appropriate use of the data that we provide. See Contact Information for MTNHP Staff
- The information provided to you by MTNHP may include sensitive data that if publicly released might jeopardize the welfare of threatened, endangered, or sensitive species or biological communities. This information is intended for distribution or use only within your department, agency, or business. Subcontractors may have access to the data during the course of any given project, but should not be given a copy for their use on subsequent, unrelated work.
- MTNHP data are made freely available. Duplication of hard-copy or digital MTNHP products with the intent to sell is prohibited without written consent by MTNHP. Should you be asked by individuals outside your organization for the type of data that we provide, please refer them to MTNHP.
- MTNHP and appropriate staff members should be appropriately acknowledged as an information source in any third-party product involving MTNHP data, reports, papers, publications, or in maps that incorporate MTNHP graphic elements.

Suggested Contacts for Natural Resource Management Agencies

As required by Montana statute (MCA 90-15), the Montana Natural Heritage Program works with state, federal, tribal, nongovernmental organizations, and private partners to ensure that the latest animal and plant distribution and status information is incorporated into our databases so that it can be used to inform a variety of permitting and planning processes and management decisions. We encourage you to contact state, federal, and tribal resource management agencies in the area where your project is located and review the permitting overviews by the Montana Department of Environmental Quality, the Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation and the Index of Environmental Permits for Montana for guidelines relevant to your efforts. In particular, we encourage you to contact the Montana Department of Fish, Wildlife, and Parks for the latest data and management information regarding hunted and high-profile management species and to use the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service’s Information Planning and Consultation \(IPAC\) website regarding U.S. Endangered Species Act listed Threatened, Endangered, or Candidate species.

For your convenience, we have compiled a list of relevant agency contacts and links below:

Introduction to Native Species

Within the report area you have requested, separate summaries are provided for: (1) Species Occurrences (SO) for plant and animal Species of Concern, Special Status Species (SSS), Important Animal Habitat (IAH) and some Potential Plant Species of Concern; (2) other observed non Species of Concern or Species of Concern without suitable documentation to create Species Occurrence polygons; and (3) other non-documented species that are potentially present based on their range, predicted suitable habitat model output, or presence of associated habitats. Each of these summaries provides the following information when present for a species: (1) the number of Species Occurrences and associated delineation criteria for construction of these polygons that have long been used for considerations of documented Species of Concern in environmental reviews; (2) the number of observations of each species; (3) the geographic range polygons for each species that the report area overlaps; (4) predicted relative habitat suitability classes that are present if a predicted suitable habitat model has been created; (5) the percent of the report area that is mapped as commonly associated or occasionally associated habitat as listed for each species in the Montana Field Guide; and (6) a variety of conservation status ranks and links to species accounts in the Montana Field Guide. Details on each of these information categories are included under relevant section headers below or are defined on our Species Status Codes page. In presenting this information, the Montana Natural Heritage Program (MTNHP) is working towards assisting the user with rapidly determining what species have been documented and what species are potentially present in the report area. We remind users that this information is likely incomplete as surveys to document native and introduced species are lacking in many areas of the state, information on introduced species has only been tracked relatively recently, the MTNHP's staff and resources are restricted by budgets, and information is constantly being added and updated in our databases. Thus, field verification by professional biologists of the absence or presence of species and biological communities will always be an important obligation of users of our data.

If you are aware of observation datasets that the MTNHP is missing, please report them to the Program Botanist apipp@mt.gov or Senior Zoologist dbachen@mt.gov. If you have animal or plant observations that you would like to contribute, you can also submit them via Excel spreadsheets, geodatabases, iNaturalist, or a Survey123 form. Various methods of data submission are reviewed in this playlist of videos:

<https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLRaydtZpHu2qOHPoSPq9cnM9uXGmEXACx>

Observations

The MTNHP manages information on several million animal and plant observations that have been reported by professional biologists and private citizens from across Montana. The majority of these observations are submitted in digital format from standardized databases associated with research or monitoring efforts and spreadsheets of incidental observations submitted by professional biologists and amateur naturalists. At a minimum, accepted observation records must contain a credible species identification (i.e. appropriate geographic range, date, and habitat and, if species are difficult to identify, a photograph and/or notes on key identifying features), a date or date range, observer name, locational information (ideally with latitude and longitude in decimal degrees), notes on numbers observed, and species behavior or habitat use (e.g., is the observation likely associated with reproduction). Bird records are also required to have information associated with date-appropriate breeding or overwintering status of the species observed. MTNHP reviews observation records to ensure that they are mapped correctly, occur within date ranges when the species is known to be present or detectable, occur within the known seasonal geographic range of the species, and occur in appropriate habitats. MTNHP also assigns each record a locational uncertainty value in meters to indicate the spatial precision associated with the record's mapped coordinates. Only records with locational uncertainty values of 10,000 meters or less are included in environmental summary reports and number summaries are only provided for records with locational uncertainty values of 1,000 meters or less.

Species Occurrences

The MTNHP evaluates plant and animal observation records for species of higher conservation concern to determine whether they are worthy of inclusion in the Species Occurrence (SO) layer for use in environmental reviews; observations not worthy of inclusion in this layer include long distance dispersal events, migrants observed away from key migratory stopover habitats, and winter observations. An SO is a polygon depicting what is known about a species occupancy from direct observation with a defined level of locational uncertainty and any inference that can be made about adjacent habitat use from the latest peer-reviewed science. If an observation can be associated with a map feature that can be tracked (e.g., a wetland boundary for a wetland associated plant) then this polygon feature is used to represent the SO. Areas that can be inferred as probable occupied habitat based on direct observation of a species location and what is known about the foraging area or home range size of the species may be incorporated into the SO. Species Occurrences generally belong to one of the following categories:

Plant Species Occurrences

A documented location of a specimen collection or observed plant population. In some instances, adjacent, spatially separated clusters are considered subpopulations and are grouped as one occurrence (e.g., the subpopulations occur in ecologically similar habitats, and their spatial proximity likely allows them to interbreed). Tabular information for multiple observations at the same SO location is generally linked to a single polygon. Plant SO's are only created for Species of Concern and Potential Species of Concern.

Animal Species Occurrences

The location of a verified observation or specimen record typically known or assumed to represent a breeding population or a portion of a breeding population. Animal SO's are generally: (1) buffers of terrestrial point observations based on documented species' home range sizes; (2) buffers of stream segments to encompass occupied streams and immediate adjacent riparian habitats; (3) polygonal features encompassing known or likely breeding populations (e.g., a wetland for some amphibians or a forested portion of a mountain range for some wide-ranging carnivores); or (4) combinations of the above. Tabular information for multiple observations at the same SO location is generally linked to a single polygon. Species Occurrence polygons may encompass some unsuitable habitat in some instances in order to avoid heavy data processing associated with clipping out habitats that are readily assessed as unsuitable by the data user (e.g., a point buffer of a terrestrial species may overlap into a portion of a lake that is obviously inappropriate habitat for the species). Animal SO's are only created for Species of Concern and Special Status Species (e.g., Bald Eagle).

Other Occurrence Polygons

These include significant biological features not included in the above categories, such as Important Animal Habitats like bird rookeries and bat roosts, and peatlands or other wetland and riparian communities that support diverse plant and animal communities.

Geographic Range Polygons

Geographic range polygons are still under development for most plant and invertebrate species. Native year-round, summer, winter, migratory and historic geographic range polygons as well as polygons for introduced populations have been defined for most vertebrate animal species for which there are enough observations, surveys, and knowledge of appropriate seasonal habitat use to define them (see examples to left). These native or introduced range polygons bound the extent of known or likely occupied habitats for non-migratory and relative sedentary species and the regular extent of known or likely occupied habitats for migratory and long-distance dispersing species; polygons may include unsuitable intervening habitats. For most species, a single polygon can represent the year-round or seasonal range, but breeding ranges of some colonial nesting water birds and some introduced species are represented more patchily when supported by data. Some ranges are mapped more broadly than actual distributions in order to be visible on statewide maps (e.g., fish).

Predicted Suitable Habitat Models

Predicted habitat suitability models have been created for plant and animal Species of Concern and are undergoing development for non-Species of Concern. For species for which models have been completed, the environmental summary report includes simple rule-based associations with streams for aquatic species and seasonal habitats for game species as well as mathematically complex Maximum Entropy models (Phillips et al. 2006, Ecological Modeling 190:231-259) constructed from a variety of statewide biotic and abiotic layers and presence only data for individual species for most terrestrial species. For the Maximum Entropy models, we reclassified 90 x 90-meter continuous model output into suitability classes (unsuitable, low, moderate, and optimal) then aggregated that into the one square mile hexagons used in the environmental summary report; this is the finest spatial scale we suggest using this information in management decisions and survey planning. Full model write ups for individual species that discuss model goals, inputs, outputs, and evaluation in much greater detail are posted on the MTNHP's Predicted Suitable Habitat Models webpage. Evaluations of predictive accuracy and specific limitations are included with the metadata for models of individual species.

Model outputs should not be used in place of on-the-ground surveys for species. Instead model outputs should be used in conjunction with habitat evaluations to determine the need for on-the-ground surveys for species. We suggest that the percentage of predicted optimal and moderate suitable habitat within the report area be used in conjunction with geographic range polygons and the percentage of commonly associated habitats to generate lists of potential species that may occupy broader landscapes for the purposes of landscape-level planning.

Associated Habitats

Within the boundary of the intersected hexagons, we provide the approximate percentage of commonly or occasionally associated habitat for vertebrate animal species that regularly breed, overwinter, or migrate through the state; a detailed list of commonly and occasionally associated habitats is provided in individual species accounts in the Montana Field Guide. We assigned common or occasional use of each of the ecological systems mapped in Montana by: (1) using personal knowledge and reviewing literature that summarizes the breeding, overwintering, or migratory habitat requirements of each species; (2) evaluating structural characteristics and distribution of each ecological system relative to the species' range and habitat requirements; (3) examining the observation records for each species in the state-wide point observation database associated with each ecological system; and (4) calculating the percentage of observations associated with each ecological system relative to the percent of Montana covered by each ecological system to get a measure of numbers of observations versus availability of habitat. Species that breed in Montana were only evaluated for breeding habitat use, species that only overwinter in Montana were only evaluated for overwintering habitat use, and species that only migrate through Montana were only evaluated for migratory habitat use. In general, species were listed as associated with an ecological system if structural characteristics of used habitat documented in the literature were present in the ecological system or large numbers of point observations were associated with the ecological system. However, species were not listed as associated with an ecological system if there was no support in the literature for use of structural characteristics in an ecological system, even if point observations were associated with that system. Common versus occasional association with an ecological system was assigned based on the degree to which the structural characteristics of an ecological system matched the preferred structural habitat characteristics for each species as represented in the scientific literature. The percentage of observations associated with each ecological system relative to the percent of Montana covered by each ecological system was also used to guide assignment of common versus occasional association.

We suggest that the percentage of commonly associated habitat within the report area be used in conjunction with geographic range polygons and the percentage of predicted optimal and moderate suitable habitat from predictive models to generate lists of potential species that may occupy broader landscapes for the purposes of landscape-level planning. Users of this information should be aware that land cover mapping accuracy is particularly problematic when the systems occur as small patches or where the land cover types have been altered over the past decade. Thus, particular caution should be used when using the associations in assessments of smaller areas (e.g., evaluations of public land survey sections).

Introduction to Land Cover

Land Use/Land Cover is one of 15 Montana Spatial Data Infrastructure framework layers considered vital for making statewide maps of Montana and understanding its geography. The layer records all Montana natural vegetation, land cover and land use, classified from satellite and aerial imagery, mapped at a scale of 1:100,000, and interpreted with supporting ground-level data. The baseline map is adapted from the Northwest ReGAP (NWGAP) project land cover classification, which used 30m resolution multi-spectral Landsat imagery acquired between 1999 and 2001. Vegetation classes were drawn from the Ecological System Classification developed by NatureServe (Comer et al. 2003). The land cover classes were developed by Anderson et al. (1976). The NWGAP effort encompasses 12 map zones. Montana overlaps seven of these zones. The two NWGAP teams responsible for the initial land cover mapping effort in Montana were Sanborn and NWGAP at the University of Idaho. Both Sanborn and NWGAP employed a similar modeling approach in which Classification and Regression Tree (CART) models were applied to Landsat ETM+ scenes. The Spatial Analysis Lab within the Montana Natural Heritage Program was responsible for developing a seamless Montana land cover map with a consistent statewide legend from these two separate products. Additionally, the Montana land cover layer incorporates several other land cover and land use products (e.g., MSDI Structures and Transportation themes and the Montana Department of Revenue Final Land Unit classification) and reclassifications based on plot-level data and the latest NAIP imagery to improve accuracy and enhance the usability of the theme. Updates are done as partner support and funding allow, or when other MSDI datasets can be incorporated. Recent updates include fire perimeters and agricultural land use (annually), energy developments such as wind, oil and gas installations (2014), roads, structures and other impervious surfaces (various years): and local updates/improvements to specific ecological systems (e.g., central Montana grassland and sagebrush ecosystems). Current and previous versions of the Land Use/Land Cover layer with full metadata are available for download from the Montana State Library's GIS Data List. More information on the land cover layer is available at: https://msl.mt.gov/geoinfo/msdi/land\_use\_land\_cover/

Within the report area you have requested, land cover is summarized by acres of Level 1, Level 2, and Level 3 Ecological Systems.

Introduction to Wetland and Riparian

Within the report area you have requested, wetland and riparian mapping is summarized by acres of each classification present. Summaries are only provided for modern MTNHP wetland and riparian mapping and not for outdated (NWI Legacy) or incomplete (NWI Scalable) mapping efforts; described here. MTNHP has made all three of these datasets and associated metadata available for separate download on the Montana Wetland and Riparian Framework web page.

Wetland and Riparian mapping is one of 15 Montana Spatial Data Infrastructure framework layers considered vital for making statewide maps of Montana and understanding its geography. The wetland and riparian framework layer consists of spatial data representing the extent, type, and approximate location of wetlands, riparian areas, and deep water habitats in Montana.

Wetland and riparian mapping is completed through photointerpretation of 1-m resolution color infrared aerial imagery acquired from 2005 or later. A coding convention using letters and numbers is assigned to each mapped wetland. These letters and numbers describe the broad landscape context of the wetland, its vegetation type, its water regime, and the kind of alterations that may have occurred. Ancillary data layers such as topographic maps, digital elevation models, soils data, and other aerial imagery sources are also used to improve mapping accuracy. Wetland mapping follows the federal Wetland Mapping Standard and classifies wetlands according to the Cowardin classification system of the National Wetlands Inventory (NWI) (Cowardin et al. 1979, FGDC Wetlands Subcommittee 2013). Federal, State, and local regulatory agencies with jurisdiction over wetlands may define and describe wetlands differently than the NWI. Similar coding, based on U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service conventions, is applied to riparian areas (U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service 2009). These are mapped areas where vegetation composition and growth is influenced by nearby water bodies, but where soils, plant communities, and hydrology do not display true wetland characteristics. These data are intended for use at a scale of 1:12,000 or smaller. Mapped wetland and riparian areas do not represent precise boundaries and digital wetland data cannot substitute for an on-site determination of jurisdictional wetlands.

Introduction to Land Management

Within the report area you have requested, land management information is summarized by acres of federal, state, and local government lands, tribal reservation boundaries, private conservation lands, and federal, state, local, and private conservation easements. Acreage for “Owned”, “Tribal”, or “Easement” categories represents non-overlapping areas that may be totaled. However, “Other Boundaries” represents managed areas such as National Forest boundaries containing private inholdings and other mixed ownership which may cause boundaries to overlap (e.g. a wilderness area within a forest). Therefore, acreages may not total in a straight-forward manner.

Because information on land stewardship is critical to effective land management, the Montana Natural Heritage Program (MTNHP) began compiling ownership and management data in 1997. The goal of the Montana Land Management Database is to manage a single, statewide digital data set that incorporates information from both public and private entities. The database assembles information on public lands, private conservation lands, and conservation easements held by state and federal agencies and land trusts and is updated on a regular basis. Since 2011, the Information Management group in the Montana State Library’s Digital Library Division has led the Montana Land Management Database in partnership with the MTNHP.

Public and private conservation land polygons are attributed with the name of the entity that owns it. The data are derived from the statewide Montana Cadastral Parcel layer. Conservation easement data shows land parcels on which a public agency or qualified land trust has placed a conservation easement in cooperation with the landowner. The dataset contains no information about ownership or status of the mineral estate. For questions about the dataset or to report errors, please contact the Montana Natural Heritage Program at (406) 444-5363 or mtnhp@mt.gov. # Introduction to Invasive and Pest Species

Within the report area you have requested, separate summaries are provided for: Aquatic Invasive Species, Noxious Weeds, Agricultural Pests, Forest Pests, and Biocontrol species that have been documented or potentially occur there based on the predicted suitability of habitat. Definitions for each of these invasive and pest species categories can be found on our Species Status Codes page.

Each of these summaries provides the following information when present for a species: (1) the number of observations of each species; (2) the geographic range polygons for each species, if developed, that the report area overlaps; (3) predicted relative habitat suitability classes that are present if a predicted suitable habitat model has been created; (4) the percent of the report area that is mapped as commonly associated or occasionally associated habitat as listed for each species in the Montana Field Guide; and (5) links to species accounts in the Montana Field Guide. Details on each of these information categories are included under relevant section headers under the Introduction to Native Species above or are defined on our Species Status Codes page. In presenting this information, the Montana Natural Heritage Program (MTNHP) is working towards assisting the user with rapidly determining what invasive and pest species have been documented and what species are potentially present in the report area. We remind users that this information is likely incomplete as surveys to document introduced species are lacking in many areas of the state, information on introduced species has only been tracked relatively recently, the MTNHP's staff and resources are limited, and information is constantly being added and updated in our databases. Thus, field verification by professional biologists of the absence or presence of species will always be an important obligation of users of our data.

Valley County, Montana

Dear Ms. Steinmetz,

Valley County, in partnership with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), has initiated an Airport Master Plan for the Glasgow Airport. DOWL has been retained to prepare the Master Plan and ensure compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA).

This study will analyze current demand, forecast future needs, and develop a plan to support airport sustainability and development of the facility over the next 20 years. DOWL will assist Glasgow Airport representatives in establishing specific goals, objectives and parameters for specified services to accommodate this plan. It is not anticipated at this time that current and future aviation demands forecasted would necessitate any significant expansion of the facility.

On behalf of the Glasgow Airport, DOWL requests your agency's input and comments on any potential concerns regarding unique or hazardous waste that should be considered while preparing the Master Plan. Your department's written response to this request will be included in the environmental documentation for this project. If necessary, a response on these matters may result in further inter-agency coordination to avoid or minimize potential project impacts.

Please forward any comments at your earliest convenience, and do not hesitate to contact me at 406-442-0370, or jgreil@dowl.com if you have any questions regarding this request. Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

DOWL
